CLUB HISTORY

AT

OUR CREST

THE DIRIGO HEART

The club's Dirigo Heart reimagines Maine's Dirigo Star in the spirit of Portland's beloved Valentine's Day Bandit tradition, surrounded by illuminating rays.

THE WATER

The waves show our love for Maine's ocean, rivers, and lakes, and pay respect to our proud maritime history and the working waterfronts up and down the coast.

THE SCROLL

HEARTS OF PINE is displayed in a scroll, a nod to Maine's literary contributions, from Henry Wadsworth Longfellow to Stephen King today, and a reference to the state seal on which a scroll holds the state's name.

THE TYPEFACE

The crest features PORTLAND in our custom font Pine Bandit, which is based on the Portland Company building in the Old Port, the only intact 19th century industrial complex on the working waterfront.

THE PINE

Found across Maine and the Forest City, the Eastern White Pine is our state tree and a proud symbol for all Mainers.

Entering the USL in 2025, Portland Hearts of Pine quickly established one of the most distinctive brands in American lower-division soccer—one rooted deeply in Maine's identity. Matchdays at Fitzpatrick Stadium reflect that ethos, blending authentic supporter culture with a strong sense of place through local music, food, and community partnerships. Rather than simply placing a team in Maine, Hearts of Pine set out to build a club that feels like Maine—distinct, grounded, and community-driven.

The Soccer for Good mission is central to Hearts of Pine. By engaging Mainers and creating spaces for community-building, Hearts believe that soccer can be a medium for sustainable social impact in Maine.

IN THE NEWS

Context:

In Gameweek 4, Hearts made the trip south to Sarasota for a tough end to a four-game road trip to open the season. Portland found themselves behind inside the first ten minutes, as a deflected effort from veteran midfielder Aaron Walker found its way past Hunter Morse. The Hearts responded bravely, Morse was outstanding between the posts, and the backline made crucial interventions throughout, but Portland were unable to find a breakthrough, falling 1-0. The defeat leaves Hearts sitting at 1-1-1 through the opening stretch of the season.

Now, Hearts finally come home. Fitzpatrick Stadium hosts its first match of 2026 when the reigning USL League One champions ONE Knoxville SC come to Portland. The stadium earned the nickname "Fort Fitzy" in 2025, and Hearts fans are coming out in droves. It's a sold-out home opener and a chance for the Hearts of Pine to put the road run behind them and make a statement in front of their own fans.

Hearts Off the Field:

2026 is set to be a defining year for Hearts. Having already sold out all home game tickets for 2026, the excitement around the fanbase has been compounded by the club's intention to add a USL Women's team in 2027. With an ever-growing fanbase, and potentially a whole new team coming to Portland, the buzz around Hearts of Pine has never been louder.

WHAT'S AT STAKE

The 2025 USL League One Playoffs presented by Terminix will be played on a fixed bracket with no re-seeding after each round. The top 8 teams from the regular season will advance to the playoffs.

The Hearts are looking to build on their 2025 season, in which they finished 7th, and place in the top 4. This would insure a home playoff match at Fitzpatrick Stadium.
